Public Finance Bond Underwriting (FY 2023-2024)

June 30, 2023

BofA Securities, Inc.
333 S. Hope Street, Suite 3820
Los Angeles, CA 90071

June 30, 2023

Ms. Deanna Sako
Director of Finance
County of Hawai'i
25 Aupuni Street
Hilo, Hawaii 96720

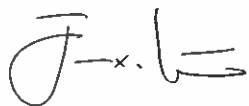

Dear Ms. Sako:

BofA Securities, Inc. (BofA Securities or BofA) is pleased to submit our response to the County of Hawai'i's (the "County") Notice to Providers of Professional Services (HRS 103D-304) for Public Finance Bond Underwriting (FY2023-2024). As discussed herein, we believe there are many factors that distinguish BofA from our competitors, but specific consideration should be given to the following important areas:

- Municipal Market Leadership - BofA has ranked as the #1 underwriter of municipal securities nationally since 2020 with 1,395 senior managed transactions for over $189.6 billion in par amount. Our success in this market is made possible in large part by the strength of our distribution system - both retail and institutional - as well as our ability and willingness to use capital to support our clients' offerings in both the primary and secondary markets with over $242.6 billion of total capital and over $12.5 billion of excess net capital as of March 31, 2023. Importantly, BofA also has been the "Number One" underwriter in Hawaii since 2020, having senior managed 37 financings for over $5.7 billion.
- Experience in Hawaii - Over the past 30 years, our finance team has managed more transactions in Hawaii than any other. We thoroughly understand Hawaii G.O. financing structures and the challenges presented by State law. Importantly, our team has worked with virtually every municipality within Hawaii, including the County, State of Hawaii and its various DOTs, City and County of Honolulu, Honolulu Department of Environmental Services, Honolulu Board of Water Supply, County of Kauai, County of Maui, University of Hawaii, and the Department of Hawaiian Home Lands.
- Commitment to the County of Hawaii - BofA and our proposed banking team are committed to the County, having served as senior manager for the County's $50 million G.O. bonds in 2008, $60 million G.O. bonds in 2010, $99 million G.O. financing in 2013, $235 million G.O. bonds in 2016, $139 million G.O. bonds in 2017, $77.1 million G.O. bonds in 2020, and most recently $99 million G.O. bonds earlier this month.
- Investor Distribution - BofA's distribution network provides access to a broad range of institutional and retail investors, both nationally and in Hawaii. BofA maintains a significant presence across the State with 59 registered Merrill financial advisors in 3 retail offices strategically located throughout Hawaii, including Hilo and Kailua-Kona.

We would like to thank you for providing BofA with the opportunity to submit our qualifications. We greatly value our long-standing relationship with the County, and hope to have the opportunity to work with the County again in the near future. Please feel free to contact us with any questions.

Sincerely,

Any historical information provided in our response that predates May 2019 relates to Merrill as the predecessor entity. BofA Securities and Merrill, which are affiliated indirect subsidiaries of BAC, have entered into an exclusive retail distribution arrangement that enables Merrill to distribute certain new issue municipal securities underwritten by or allocated to BofA and BofA will share with Merrill a portion of the fee or commission paid to BofA. Merrill continues to operate our storied retail brokerage system, while BofA is the broker-dealer of record for municipal banking and underwriting services. On the commercial banking side, BANA has long been an active lender to municipalities, including financing the Golden Gate Bridge in the 1930s in the midst of the economic depression. Merrill's wealth management businesses, with over 18,000 wealth advisors, provide tailored solutions to meet our retail clients' needs through a full set of financial advisory services including investment management, banking, trust and retirement products via two primary businesses: Merrill and Bank of America Private Bank.

In addition to the Bank's long-standing leading role in the provision of traditional credit products, we have developed a number of innovative on-balance sheet products that can be alternatives or supplements to traditional variable rate/commercial paper programs and their related bank facilities, including direct purchase index floaters, revolving credit facilities, and private placement options.

The Bank is also very active in the energy and equipment leasing space through Bank of America Public Capital Corp ("BAPCC"), a wholly-owned subsidiary of Bank of America N.A. We have purchased five such leases on behalf of the State in recent years.

Technology and BofA Municipal Markets. Like BofA as a whole, our Municipal Banking and Markets (MBAM) Group develops and uses leading-edge technology for the benefit of clients as well as for operational efficiency. Technological innovation has long been a core competency of our department as well as of our affiliate broker Merrill Lynch that provides BofA Securities access to retail investors. More than two decades ago Merrill Lynch developed an internal electronic syndicate management system that is the predecessor to the system used across the entire municipal market today. We similarly developed a platform that allows institutional investors to transact electronically on municipal money market securities that has been copied widely across the industry.

Our municipal group includes a technology strategy team that partners up with Global Markets Quantitative Strategies and Data Group, the firm's overall technology group and the firm's Merrill brokerage division's Global Wealth & Investment Management team to develop and enhance our municipal underwriting, trading, and sales efforts. The work of the firm's collective technology teams spans a range of solutions, including machine learning and artificial intelligence, algorithms, and electronic trading.

Connecting with Investors. Today's investors demand sophisticated online and automated capabilities. BofA is at the forefront of providing systems and services to make transactions more efficient and more effective for both institutional and Merrill retail investors, for example, to view offerings, execute buy/sell transactions, and search for matching CUSIPs, among other activities. By increasing the ease of access to information and providing more efficient trade execution, we potentially broaden the universe of investor types and number of investors. Moreover, increased information flow and efficient trade execution provide for improved secondary market liquidity in the market which can translate to improved pricing. For the firm's institutional customer accounts we provide direct access through our award-winning CashPro portal and Mercury API, where through a single portal accounts can see offerings in real-time and access other products such as Bank of America Research. Merrill Lynch financial advisors, on behalf of their retail clients, have similar access through Global Wealth & Investment Management's proprietary Merrill Lynch Markets platform. Our Merrill Edge self-directed investing portal provides access for our retail clients to directly execute electronically in BofA secondary market offerings.

Connecting Investors to Bonds. To help Merrill retail financial advisors more easily identify offerings that suit their clients' Best Interest, BofA developed a proprietary portfolio tool that constructs customized bond portfolios designed to meet specific investor goals, such as college savings or state-specific tax-exemption. For institutional investors, BofA's technology strategy team uses an Application Programming Interface (API) to allow investors using the Bank of America N.A.'s flagship CashPro technology to connect and execute municipal bonds directly. This approach provides direct bilateral connectivity to institutional investors and allows them to transact secondary market securities; negotiate electronically to transact; enter requests for bids; and access rate history and analytics. The MBAM API can be implemented directly into a client's own platform and infrastructure meaning that institutional investors ranging in size from the large asset managers to the small and middle market buyers have access to BofA's municipal offerings without needing to use a separate portal. These online tools provide a channel through which investors have more efficient access to information, liquidity, and offerings, benefiting issuers and investors alike.

Investor Interest Indicator. Our proprietary investor targeting process brings together proprietary, confidential and trade secret automated data analysis tools with traditional market intelligence gained as the #1 competitive and negotiated senior manager in the municipal market. BofA's technology enables us to extract information from the vast amounts of proprietary data we collect and combine it with human judgement and experience to more efficiently identify investors in order to build robust and diverse order books that allow us to strive for best market pricing.

Specifically, BofA has developed a proprietary (Trade Secret protected) technology tool the Investor Interest Indicator, or I<sup>3</sup> to strategically organize our sales efforts around Institutional Investors. This technology helps our underwriters, salespeople, and bankers potentially to target those investors most likely to participate in an offering whether they are new or existing investors. The I<sup>3</sup> uses public information and BofA's massive proprietary internal database of investor secondary market trading data, together with the specific characteristics of the County's proposed bond issue to produce a scored ranking of potential institutional investor purchasers of the new issue. BofA has ranked as the number 1 overall senior manager of municipal bond issues every year for over a decade. This access to data along the new analytical tool and with our electronic distribution capabilities benefits our clients as it allows our sales force to work more efficiently and effectively. Having marketed and sold a greater volume of new issue municipal bonds than any other firm for more than a decade, by a significant margin, means that BofA has far more market data than any other municipal underwriter.

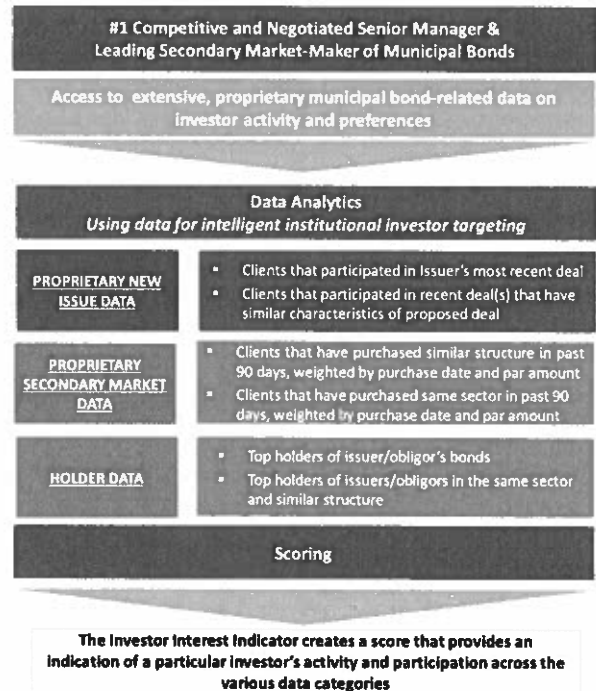

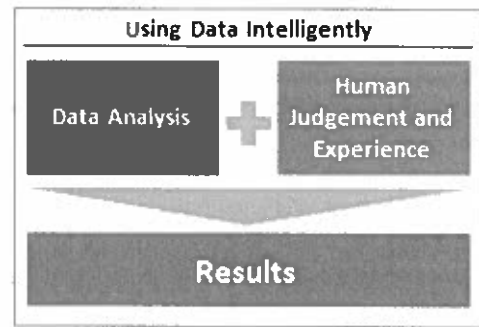

The I<sup>3</sup> tracks the relevant market activity data of a broad range of the top institutional investors, then quickly synthesize that data into an actionable sales marketing tool. The I<sup>3</sup> quickly compiles and evaluates a massive quantity of recent, relevant proprietary and public data to produce a usable salesforce guidance plan. Through technology we are able to potentially match recent individual interest of investors with our current offerings by better matching patterns of activity in the market.

All of these tools, and our firm's commitment to constant technological advancement to adapt to market trends and better meet our clients' needs, has helped our firm achieve its leadership in the municipal market and our #1 annual ranking for over a decade.

Marketing Strategies

In conjunction with the any of the County's upcoming financings, the County may choose to utilize an extensive retail outreach campaign, comprised of one or more of the advertising methods listed below:

- County's Website: The County can improve investor relations well in advance of a bond sale by enhancing its website. Adding an "Investor Relations" links to the County's homepage provides easy access to financial statements, budget documents and other relevant financial documents and is extremely helpful for investors looking for financial information. In addition, the County could post upcoming bond sales on its website, essentially a free form of advertising.

- Local Newspaper Advertisements: Traditional print media can reach an extremely wide audience, depending on the choice of newspaper and frequency of ads. The County had success with newspaper advertisements on its last bond issue (pictured right). We have found placing advertisements in the Thursday and Sunday business sections in the Honolulu Advertiser to be the most effective. Additionally, the newspapers on neighboring islands are very cost effective (such as the Hawaii Tribune Herald, Garden Island News, and Maui News).

- Banner Advertising: With more investors going online to read the news and collect information, we propose also utilizing digital advertising. This includes the online investor presentation as well as banner advertisements that the County successfully used in 2023 in various newspaper publications.

- Investor Presentation: For larger financings, the County may wish to utilize an internet based pre-recorded investor presentation through the NetRoadshow website. We would also recommend holding one-on-one follow-up meetings to answer any questions that key institutional investors may have. The County should focus on the top holders of its debt. Existing holders, who are already familiar with the County's credit, can help form a foundation of buyers for the County's financing.

- Live Zoom Investor Presentation/Luncheon: The County could also host live Zoom presentation for institutional investors. Investors would be allowed to submit question in advance and answers would be given at the end of the presentation. If the County is traveling to New York, a hybrid of in-person and virtual option could make sense.

- One-On-One Investor Meetings/Calls: Investors will be interested in speaking directly with management prior to making an investment decision. The County should offer to have meetings or calls with Bank of Hawaii and First Hawaiian Bank, and set aside time to be available for one-on-one calls with any interested investors on the Mainland. We also recently engaged Central Pacific Bank to gauge their interest in buying Hawaii bonds due to the fact that Hawaii bonds now fit into CPB's investment criteria with the pension system's funded ratio going above 60%.

Credit Analysis and Disclosure Experience

Our in-house credit team, led by Mr. Brad Gewehr, is unmatched by any other firm. Mr. Gewehr has significant experience working in Hawaii. He also is an industry leading expert in pension and other postemployment benefits programs, and is very familiar with the State of Hawaii Employees' Retirement System ("ERS") and the Hawaii Employer-Union Health Benefits Trust Fund ("EUTF"). Mr. Gewehr was formerly a Managing Director at Moody's, and he always will be available to assist the County with rating presentations, credit strategy and investor relations. Our Hawaii efforts also extend to educating local investors about the County's credit and overall the State of Hawaii's available investments opportunities. We also recommend holding calls with mainland investors who may have follow-up questions.

As one of the largest securities firms in the world, BofA offers the County a comprehensive package of investment banking services and qualifications as well as a wide range of traditional bank products. Our team is staffed with professionals who have proven skills in structuring and executing all types of financings. Below we provide credentials for each financing category that is important to the County.

- BofA worked with the State and secured ratings of "Aa3/AA-/AA-" - only one notch below each of the State's respective General Obligation Bond ratings.
- The retail order period on October 14th generated over $39 million of retail orders (95% of the bonds available), despite a volatile municipal market.
- The retail order period was so successful that BofA was able to accelerate the institutional order period and price all of the bonds on October 14th.
- The COPs refunding generated over $2.6 million of PV savings (5.6%) and over $3.6 million of cashflow savings in FY2010&11.

Hawaii Airports

$167,740,000 Series 2013 Lease Revenue Certificates of Participation ("COPs")

Sale Date: December 10, 2013

- BofA served as a co-senior manager for Hawaii Airport Series 2013 Lease Revenue Certificates of Participation ("COPs")
- The COPs were sold to pay for $150 million in energy conservation projects at 12 of the State's 15 airports.
- The projects are part of a 20-year energy performance contract with Johnson Controls International anticipated to result in a 49% reduction of energy usage.
- Changing airport lighting systems to LED, replacing heating and air conditioning systems, electric transformers and installing solar panels over parking garages are the largest projects in the contract.
- The debt is structured as lease revenue certificates of participation payable from all net revenues of the Airports Division after payments are made on the $877 million outstanding Airport System Revenue Bonds.
- The COPs were sold with an increasing debt service profile structured to match the increase in annual energy savings guaranteed from Johnson Controls under the energy performance contract.
- Interest on the COPs will be subject to the alternative minimum tax.
- The COPs received an A3 rating from Moody's and A-minus ratings from both Standard and Poor's and Fitch. Those ratings are one notch lower than the airport division's outstanding lease revenue bond debt.
- $75 million of professional retail orders were received and pricing was accelerated by one day due to strong market reception. The financing received almost $1.2 billion of total orders, leaving it 6x oversubscribed.
- The all-in cost of the financing was 4.65%.

  - Oversubscription of 5.0x for the 2021C Bonds and 1.7x for the 2021D Bonds
  - BofA reduced final yields by up to 12bps in certain maturities

$225,120,000 Lease Revenue Refunding Bonds, 2022 Series G (Forward Delivery)

Sale Date: October 14, 2021

- As part of the marketing plan, the County posted an online investor presentation at the same time the POS was distributed on October 6th. The investor presentation was viewed by more than 20 unique institutional investors.
- The transactions entered the market on October 14th during a volatile market environment as investors focused on the Federal Reserve's increasingly hawkish stance.
- Despite market volatility, the County's 2022 Series G forward refunding received tremendous investor reception with $1.1 billion of orders (over 4.7x oversubscribed), allowing BofA to lower yields 4-7 basis points across the yield curve.
- The success of the refunding generated $61.2 million in present value savings (or almost 21% of refunded par) for the County.

Qualified Energy Conservation Bonds ("QECBs") and Energy Efficiency Leasing

The Stimulus Act of 2009 also created Qualified Energy Conservation Bonds ("QECBs") to finance facilities that reduce energy consumption. Similar to QSCBs, these bonds can be sold either as tax credit or as federally subsidized bonds. QECBs are designed to provide the issuer with an interest subsidy of up to 70%. It is our understanding that the State's allocation of $13.63 million has yet to be utilized.

BofA is one of only a handful of firms that have sold QECBs. Our experience includes transactions for the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power, King County Washington and Rancho California Water District. A case study for the City of San Diego financing is provided below.

City of San Diego $13,100,000 2011 Taxable Qualified Energy Conservation Bond ("QECB") Financing Sale Date: April 15, 2011

- The City of San Diego selected BofA to provide $13.1 million in Taxable Qualified Energy Conservation Bond ("QECB") financing for a Broad Spectrum Street Lighting program.
- BofA helped the City secure its allocation with the California Debt Limit Allocation Committee ("CDLAC").
- The entire $17.8 million project will fund 36,000 energy-saving replacement street lights, with $13.1 million in QECB funds (for 28,700 street lights) and the balance in grant funding.
- Savings from the QECB funding are anticipated to be $1.6 million annually, with a one-time incentive of $614,000 from San Diego Gas & Electric. In addition, the program cost savings are expected to cover debt service.
- The transaction closed on April 15, 2011.
- The City of San Diego is a significant client of BofA – past services have included treasury accounts, credit facilities and public finance investment banking.

Banc of America Public Capital Corp (BAPCC), a wholly-owned subsidiary of Bank of America N.A., is an active participant in the energy efficiency financing space. Financing vehicles include tax-exempt lease-purchase agreements, tax-advantaged structures, non-tax and tax structured financing (energy/utility service agreements, shared savings agreements). The types of projects financed includes energy efficiency projects such as renewable (solar, wind and geothermal heating and cooling), lighting upgrades, HVAC, water conservation efforts, boilers, chillers, etc. Below we provide list of the lease financings we purchased for the State of Hawaii.

BofA's municipal variable rate portfolio is of manageable size, which allows us to focus on individual programs. Our Municipal Money Markets ("MMM") desk currently manages over 700 municipal variable rate debt programs with an outstanding par amount of over $59.7 billion. To ensure sufficient capital is available to support our issuers' programs on an ongoing basis, including periods of market volatility, our MMM desk routinely evaluates and adjusts our underwriting limit. The MMM desk is currently staffed by four underwriters/ traders/remarketing agents and is led by Mr. Thomas Murray. The desk exclusively underwrites and markets short-term and variable rate municipal products and is supported by a team of four institutional short-term sales professionals and two sales assistants that cover the largest money market funds, trust funds, investment advisors, insurance companies, hedge funds and corporations. These professionals work jointly with our Institutional Financial Consultants and local retail offices to sell and remarket short-term paper at the lowest possible yields. Of note, most of BofA's "seasoned" variable rate programs have broad distribution networks, including high net worth retail investors.

Below we have provided a case study for the City and County of Honolulu's tax-exempt commercial paper program. BofA serves as the City's dealer for the program. The City has benefited greatly from this program over the past decade as it has provided not only flexible interim financing but also an extremely low all-in cost of funds. We believe that a commercial paper program could have significant benefits for the State's general fund, as well as for the Airports Division and the University. We also provide a case study for the various variable rate programs that we support for the State of California. This includes serving as remarketing agent on VRDOs, dealer on commercial paper, underwriter on index floating rate bonds, providing bank LOC facility support and a $500 million revolving credit facility.

City and County of Honolulu

$450,000,000 General Obligation Tax-Exempt Commercial Paper, Closing Date: December, 15 2015

- BofA currently serves as dealer for the City and County of Honolulu's (the "City") entire Commercial Paper programs.
- The banking team has assisted the City with the pricing and administration of its commercial paper program since its inception in 2001, including the facilitation and negotiation of its bank facility support in 2004, 2010, 2012, 2015, 2018, 2020, and most recently in 2023.
- The City most recently replaced its expired RBC facility with Bank of America, N.A..
- The City also expanded the program by $350 million to fund the rail system.
- The City's commercial paper program has proven a critical finance tool, not only for its extremely low cost as an interim financing vehicle, but also as an alternative form of borrowing. In 2008, during the height of the financial crisis, the City was able to borrow with its commercial paper program. This was at a time when both the variable rate (VRDOs and ARCs) and fixed rate markets were essentially closed.
- The City also has used the commercial paper program to provide interim financing for the H-Power waste to energy facility and Honolulu Authority for Rapid Transportation (HART). The City was able to borrow on the commercial paper program in 2010, as the H-Power private activity project qualified for tax exemption under the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009.

City and County of Honolulu

$100,000,000 General Obligation Commercial Paper Program

Closed Date: June 1, 2023

- The City and County of Honolulu has long maintained a General Obligation Commercial Paper Program to provide interim funding for its projects, previously supported by two separate bank liquidity facilities.
- In fall 2018, with the expiration date for one of the liquidity facilities approaching, the City and County requested that the incumbent bank provide an extension, which such bank declined to provide.
- Based on the strength of BofA's overall relationship with the City and County, the Bank was able to quickly approve providing a substitute liquidity facility to replace the expiring facility.
- In December 2018, the Bank closed on a one-year substitute liquidity facility, which will provide additional time for the City and County to consider how best to utilize its CP program going forward.
- In December 2019, this facility was extended for an additional year.
- In December 2020, the City and County extended this facility with BANA on a negotiated basis, for an additional three years.
- In 2023 when a rating agency downgrade triggered a pricing increase under this facility, BANA offered an early extension to extend tenor and lower pricing; this extension closed in June 2023 for an additional three year period.

State of Hawaii

$600,000,000 Taxable General Obligation Bond Anticipation Notes of 2020 (Direct Purchase)

Closed Date: April 14, 2020

- The Notes were issued to fund on an interim basis $600 million of general governmental projects; the bridge loan will help the State fund critical projects that will in effect serve as a form of in-state fiscal stimulus.
- The State initially had planned a public sale, but decided to pursue a direct purchase given market volatility and uncertainty around the impacts of COVID-19 on the State's credit; the State ultimately determined that drafting disclosure for a public sale prior to its May 2020 Council on Revenues meeting was not feasible given the impact of COVID-19 on the State's budget; the municipal market was essentially shut down in the weeks leading up to the transaction.
- BANA was able to offer the State $600 million as an interim financing, to be refunded with long-term G.O. bonds in 2020 or 2021.
- BANA expedited the transaction and executed the direct purchase within two weeks compared to a public offering which typically takes 2-3 months.
- Although ratings were not required, the finance team assisted the State with the development of a comprehensive credit update for the rating agencies in light of the potential impacts of COVID-19.
- The BANs were structured on a taxable basis to avoid any private activity issues.
- The BANs were also structured with par coupons which helped avoid the State's premium limitation.
- The transaction included two tranches:
  - $300 million maturing in 12 months (non-callable)
  - $300 million maturing in 18 months (callable in 12 months)
- Public market new issuance during the week of pricing was only $4 billion (down from the typical $10-12 billion per week in more normal markets).
- Over the two days leading up to pricing, 1-year US Treasury rates increased by 5 bps.
- In October 2020, the State and BANA agreed on a negotiated basis to a partial early prepayment of $400 million of BANs which provided significant debt service savings to the State.

State of California

$350,000,000 General Obligation Commercial Paper Program

Closed Date: December 1, 2020

- The State of California has long maintained multi-billion General Obligation VRDO and General Obligation Commercial Paper Programs to provide variable rate and interim funding, respectively, for a range of GO projects issued on behalf of various State departments and bond acts.
- The Bank has served as one of the State's leading credit providers for many years, and in 2019 BANA extended our existing $250 million VRDO and $350 million CP facilities for an additional two years, based on the results of a competitive RFP process.
- Most recently in December 2020, our $350 million CP facility was extended for an additional three years.

City and County of Honolulu

$252,520,000 Wastewater System Revenue Bonds, Series 2017 (Direct Purchase)

Closed Date: December 20, 2017

- Series 2017 FQ, FR, and FS Bonds (tax-exempt) advance refunded Series 2011 DZ, 2012 EE, 2013 EH and 2014 for economic savings.
- The transaction initially kicked-off as a public bond sale that was scheduled to price in January 2018. As a result of the Tax Jobs and Cuts Act of 2017, which proposed to eliminate tax-exempt advance refundings by December 31st, 2017, the State decided to also explore a direct purchase with Bank of America.
- The direct purchase is an expedient financing as it does not require a disclosure document or credit ratings.
- The 2017 direct purchase loan was not rated, as Bank of America does not require ratings for direct purchases.
- The refunding was structured with three series, which will allow the State to realize uniform cashflow savings over the life of the financing.
- The ultimate tenor of the direct purchase was 16 years, well beyond Bank of America's standard 10 year tenor restriction.
- BofA worked with Tax Counsel to confirm the multi-purpose allocations.
- The public municipal market weakened in the weeks leading up to the transaction due to the heavy supply of advance refundings attempting to price and close before December 31st.
- The interest rate set for the direct purchase was very comparable to where a public market rate would have been if sold on the same day as the rate lock.
- The refunding generated over $19.3 million present value or 7.50% of refunded par.
- The 2017 Bonds maturity after 10 years have a 10-year par call.

Environmental, Social and Governance Bonds.

BofA is a leading underwriter in the "ESG" bond space, having senior managed 101 financings for over $15.8 billion since 2020. This includes a number of high profile corporate clients such as Toyota. We served as senior manager on the first green bond transaction to be sold by a municipal entity – the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. *We also played a leadership role in the development of the Green Bond Principles (Principles) which were based on a white paper, "Framework for Green Bonds," published in 2013 and co-authored by BofA. The white paper was republished in January 2014 as the Green Bond Principles with the help of two additional drafting banks and the backing of nine other banks. This has helped catalyze the flow of funding to support Green projects globally. BofA remains the only global financial institution to issue securities with the Equality Progress label that is designed to advance racial and gender equality and economic opportunity. As a leader in the space and as an ESG Bond issuer itself, BofA understands the internal processes and requirements of administering a ESG Bond program as well as enjoys the benefits of offering ESG Bonds and is well positioned to share this expertise with the State. Most importantly, we senior managed the State of Hawaii's green bond transaction in 2015 – proceeds of which used to make the Turtle Bay land acquisition. Community Facility District/Special Assessment District Bonds

BofA has significant experience in underwriting and distributing land-secured financings such as Assessment District Bonds ("AD") and Community Facility District ("CFD") financings. This experience dates back to the 1980's, when Merrill developed many innovative structures for land secured transactions in California and Hawaii. Such structure involved issuing variable debt in the development stages of the project, and subsequently refunding to fixed rate bonds once the improvements are completed and ready for sale by the developers.

BofA's lead banker for the County, Frank Lauterbur, has extensive land secured financing experience. In fact, during his 30-year career, Mr. Lauterbur has worked on both residential and commercial land development projects. Over this timeframe, he has senior managed transactions for municipalities including the Hawaii Community Development Authority (3 separate non-rated improvement district issues in 1986, 1988, and 1990), the Department of Hawaiian Homelands ($18 million non-rated revenue bond financing), Los Angeles County (5 senior managed CFD transactions), City of Irvine (5 senior managed issues), Orange County ($165 million variable rate assessment district for the Newport Coast project), City of Long Beach (a taxable assessment district issue to fund seismic retrofitting in 1990 and a special tax transaction for the City's commercial project in 2002), City of Tustin (4 assessment district issues), City of Manhattan Beach (underground utility assessment district financings in 2004 & 2006), City of Huntington Beach (Bella Terra Project), and the Rancho California Water District (CFD #89-5 issued in conjunction with the County of Riverside in 1998). Throughout Mr. Lauterbur's career he has worked with major real estate developers including The Irvine Company, Lennar Homes, Developers Diversified Realty, The Walt Disney Company and Howard Hughes Land Development (General Growth). Our team was also recently named Senior Manager on a CFD financing for the City of Sacramento scheduled to come to market later this year.
